

Name: Daniela Katharina Baumgartner

1984: Member of the German National Team in Free-Style Skiing

1984: Runner-up in the Free-Style Skiing German Championship

1984: DFSV Cup – Overall Winner

1992: Graduated from Ludwig Maximilians University in Munich with a Master's Degree summa cum laude in art history (minors: philosophy, psychology and ethnology)

In the 1990's several positions as assistant in the media areas: journalism (society page) and television (program planning and assistant director jobs at a television production company (DSF)).

In edition research expeditions to indigenous peoples in the Americas: to Mexico, the Andes and the Amazon.

Translation and publication of popular scientific ethnological texts and books. Author of a short story (published in 1998) and a novel (title: "Kristallzeiten" "Crystal Ages" published in 2005, to purchase at www.amazon.de)

2003/2004: Training in camera operation and television technology with a ZDF cameraman and an editor from Bavarian Television.

In 2005 and 2006: several trips to different cultures of the earth, to South America, India, Hawaii and Iceland, to implement a film project about the creation mythologies of four cultures.

All four documentary films from this project about India, Perú, Hawaii and Iceland have been on the retail market since 2007/2008.

2009: Training as a voluntary hospice aide

2010: Production of a documentary film dealing with a comparison of the cultures of two girls from different countries (Hawaii and Bavaria). Film title "Auch wenn Ozeane uns trennen" / "Even When Oceans Divide Us". The film was telecast several times on Bible TV (on 4/23, 4/24 and 5/11/2011) and also back on the Bible TV schedule in 2012, e.g. on 3/1/2012.

2011 and 2012: Production of a documentary film about Jerusalem: it treats the lives of different families and clergymen from three world religions in the city of Jerusalem.

Film title: “Bis ich deine Tränen trockne” / “Till I Dry Your Tears”.

The film was shown in September of 2012 at the “The New York International Independent Film Festival” in Los Angeles and earned an Award for the Best Direction in the category: documentary films.

As of mid-November 2012 on the retail market. Aired worldwide in 'Deutsche Welle TV' in a shorter version (26 min.) with the filmtitle: 'Jerusalem-Three Religions, Three Families' in the program 'faithmatters' on March 1 and 2, 2015

2013 and 2014: Production of a documentary film about the children's aid organisation in Latin America: 'Nuestros Pequeños Hermanos' Film title: 'From Lost to Living', aired worldwide in 'Deutsche Welle TV' in the program 'faith matters' on January 4 and 5, 2015

2015 documentary film produced for the Hospice Association im Pfaffenwinkel e.V. with the title: ‚As long as you live...‘

2016 production of the documentary film: ‚Mary – living from whole half heart‘ broadcast on television: Bibel-TV the 26th of September 2017